PROGRAMME BUDGET FOR THE BIENNIUM 1992-1993

Second performance report

Report of the Secretary-General

INTRODUCTION

1. The present report provides revised estimates of expenditure and income for the biennium 1992-1993. These are as follows:

(Thousands of United States dollars)

	Revised appropriation	Proposed expenditures	Increase (reduction)	Percentage
Expenditure	2 467 458.2	2 411 404.0	(56 054.2)	(2.3)
Income	471 016.4	443 320.1	(27 696.3)	(5.9)
Net requirements	1 996 441.8	1 968 083.9	(28 357.9)	(1.4)

2. The change in the level of resources reflects the impact of (a) changes in the operational rates of exchange; (b) changes in rates of inflation; (c) decisions of policy-making organs that could not be deferred to the 1994-1995 biennium, or unforeseen and extraordinary expenses; and (d) other changes, including further adjustments to the transfers between sections in relation to the restructuring of the Secretariat (A/C.5/47/2 and Corr.1 and A/C.5/47/88).

3. These changes are summarized in five tables as follows: table 1A provides information on the overall level of resources; table 2 contains a summary of projected expenditures by section; table 3 provides a summary of projected expenditures by main object of expenditure; table 4 provides a summary of projected expenditure by section, main object of expenditure; and table 5 provides a summary by duty stations.

4. The parameters that give rise to adjustments in respect of rates of exchange and inflation are indicated in detail in five schedules annexed to the present report. These are: schedule 1. Rates of exchange and average rate of inflation by duty station; schedule 2. Movement of post adjustment multipliers by duty station; schedule 3. Monthly operational rates of exchange in 1993; schedule 4. Increases in respect of General Service salaries; and schedule 5. Common staff costs percentage rates.

I. EXPENDITURE SECTIONS

A. Effects of changes in the operational rates of exchange and rates of inflation

5. The decrease of $23.4 million relates to savings of $16.2 million due to a stronger United States dollar in relation to other currencies and savings of $7.3 million due to generally lower rates of inflation as compared with the assumptions made in the first performance report (A/C.5/47/47) and used for the revised 1992-1993 appropriations.

6. Actual United Nations operational rates of exchange during 1993 and the latest reports on the consumer price indices at all duty stations available at the time have been examined and compared with the rates of exchange and inflation that were assumed in the first performance report. Likewise, the actual changes in compensation as this relates to the post adjustment multipliers for the Professional category and cost-of-living adjustments for the General Service and related categories have been considered in the calculation of adjustments to standard salary costs. These are detailed in schedules 1 to 5.

7. Of the decrease of $16.2 million under rates of exchange, an amount of $1.6 million relates to staff assessment; the balance ($14.6 million) breaks down as follows in descending order:

Geneva	6.6
Nairobi	3.2
Santiago	1.4
Vienna	1.2
Jerusalem (United Nations Truce Supervision Organization)	0.8
Jordan	0.4
Addis Ababa, Port-of-Spain, United Nations Military Observer Group in India and Pakistan	0.3
The Hague	0.1

8. The average 1993 rates used for the present report reflect actual operational rates of exchange through November. The only changes in operational rates for December relate to Austria, Ethiopia and The Hague. The operational rates of exchange shown for the present performance report in schedule 1 have been applied to all relevant sections of the programme budget excluding those sections that were discontinued in the context of restructuring.

9. Inflation rates for non-salary objects of expenditure have been reviewed in the light of experience. The projections for inflation contained in the first performance report were based on the assumption that the inflation rates for 1992 would continue in 1993. The actual inflation rates in 1993 are generally lower than budgeted, as indicated in schedule 1.

10. In accordance with established practice, exceptions to the general rates of inflation are identified in instances where the cost of certain services or commodities reflects price increases at significantly different rates than the average. One such exception in this respect relates to after-service health insurance in New York, where cost increases of 20 per cent annually have been experienced.

11. Currency exchange and inflation rates have direct implications for the level of salary costs. Actual post adjustment averages for the year show decreases against the projections in the first performance report in the order of 0.7 per cent at Geneva and Vienna after adjusting for exchange rates and a decrease of 0.3 per cent in New York.

12. Other variances are found at Addis Ababa, Nairobi, Santiago and Bangkok. In Addis Ababa, the effects of the currency devaluation that took place in 1992 were factored into the post adjustment of Professional-level staff in February 1993. Savings in the order of 13 per cent of the revised appropriation are therefore recorded. In Nairobi, the post adjustment multiplier was reduced in July 1993 following the depreciation earlier in the year of the Kenya shilling. In Bangkok and Santiago, the savings from the reduction in the actual post adjustment are due mainly to the lower local inflation than budgeted.

13. Excluding staff assessment, which amounts to $3.3 million, savings by duty station totalling $4.0 million under inflation are attributed mostly to Ethiopia ($2.9 million) and Chile ($1.1 million). Decreases in Bangkok ($712,100), New York ($552,400), Vienna ($358,500) and Geneva ($61,100) offset other increases registered in Mexico ($608,300), Nairobi ($613,400), Jerusalem ($980,200) and other duty stations ($90,500).

B. Decisions of policy-making organs and unforeseen and extraordinary expenses

14. Additional requirements of $18,305,000 under sections 1, 2, 28, 34 and 37 relate to the implementation of decisions of policy-making organs and/or unforeseen expenses certified by the Secretary-General as relating to the maintenance of peace and security during 1993 after the revised 1992-1993 appropriations were approved by the General Assembly at its forty-seventh session.

C. Other changes

15. There is an overall decrease of $50.9 million under this heading. Included therein are adjustments to sections that were discontinued as a result of restructuring. It will be recalled that transfers between sections were proposed in connection with the establishment of five new sections of the budget (sects. 37-41), which involved resources for seven new and two expanded departments. The related redeployment of resources involved 75 per cent of the biennial appropriations released under 14 of the initial sections following their discontinuation as of 30 June 1992. For the sections that were discontinued as of 30 June 1992 and 31 March 1993, the present report reflects the actual level of expenditure recorded during the biennium 1992-1993.

16. The net decrease under this heading is broken down by major object of expenditure in table 3. The decrease under posts and staff assessment relates primarily to lower than expected actual rates as well as reduced requirements in some duty stations as a result of higher vacancy rates than budgeted. Adjustments to common staff costs reflect relatively little change from the rates budgeted in the revised appropriation (see schedule 5).

17. The decrease of $36.2 million under posts (salaries and common staff costs) reflects overall decreases at all but five duty stations: Santiago, Addis Ababa, Nairobi, Rome and the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East (UNRWA). Notwithstanding the reduction in posts due to favourable exchange rate trends, the increase in Santiago is the result of higher actual salaries than budgeted. In addition, actual common staff costs are projected at a higher percentage over net salaries than assumed in the revised appropriation. In Addis Ababa, savings projected under salaries are more than offset by increased requirements under common staff costs. In Rome, the additional requirements under salaries reflect the adjustment for salaries of staff who remained in Rome after the effective date of restructuring. The increased requirements under common staff costs reflect separation payments to local staff. The increases in Nairobi and UNRWA relate to higher common staff costs than budgeted.

18. The reductions by duty stations are as follows:

(Millions of United States dollars)

	Salaries	Common staff costs
New York	3.7	(9.3)
Amman	(5.9)	(6.6)
Bangkok	(1.0)	(1.1)
Geneva	(5.6)	(6.4)
India	(0.2)	(0.6)
Jerusalem	(3.2)	(3.4)
Information centres	(1.2)	(0.5)
Mexico	(0.2)	(0.1)

19. Increased requirements under salaries in New York reflect a vacancy rate lower than the standard turnover deduction. The additional costs are offset by reductions under common staff costs. Reductions under both salaries and common staff costs at Geneva, Bangkok, United Nations Truce Supervision Organization in Palestine (UNTSO) and the information centres reflect a higher level of vacancies than budgeted. In Geneva, however, provision has been made to cover retroactive salary payments to General Service staff in line with the decision of the International Labour Organization Tribunal regarding the results of an International Civil Service Commission (ICSC) salary survey in 1990. This affects all sections with budgetary provisions for Geneva, namely, the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, the Economic Commission for Europe, Human rights, the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees, and the Department of Humanitarian Affairs, as well as the Department of Public Information and Administration and management. The reduction in Amman reflects recognition of the savings for having transferred the Secretariat of the Economic and Social Commission for Western Asia to Amman from Baghdad.

20. The overall expenditures under posts cover staff who have no posts budgeted for the functions they are carrying out, i.e. supernumeraries. These staff currently number 36. The situation arose primarily as a result of the abolition of 1,365 posts in accordance with General Assembly resolution 41/213. While these staff did not have a post budgeted for their functions, they have nevertheless been carried within the overall staffing table authorized under the regular budget for 1992-1993. Efforts are being pursued that will ensure that these staff either will be assigned to posts that are currently vacant or expected to be vacant in the near future or will be separated.

21. Increases and reductions by major objects of expenditure are indicated in table 3. The increase amounting to $20.3 million under other staff costs relates to additional requirements under temporary assistance for meetings ($9.1 million), general temporary assistance ($4.8 million), overtime and night differential ($5.8 million) and after-service health insurance (2.3 million), partially offset by reductions totalling $1.7 million under daily mission allowance and other objects.

22. The increased requirements under temporary assistance for meetings are found in section 41.I. under Conference services, Headquarters, in section 8, International Court of Justice, and in section 17, United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP). A higher than anticipated caseload was the reason for the increase at the Court. In section 17, the increase relates to servicing of meetings, including the Committee of Permanent Representatives of UNEP. In Administration and management, the increase is due to servicing a higher schedule of meetings than budgeted. The added costs under temporary assistance are partially offset in this instance by savings under posts.

23. Increases under general temporary assistance and overtime are requested for sections 1, Overall policy-making, direction and coordination; section 28, Human rights; section 31, Department of Public Information; and section 41, Administration and management. The increase relates in large part to the heavier schedule of meetings in both New York and Geneva. In Administration and management, additional requirements were identified for increasing security at Headquarters and for reconfiguring the premises of new departments.

24. Expenditures for consultants for 1992-1993 are estimated at $10.2 million, compared to a revised appropriation of $11.1 million. The General Assembly had requested, in decision 47/453 dated 14 September 1993, that all aspects of consultants be dealt with in the context of the performance report. Information was subsequently sought from all offices concerning the use of consultants during the first 18 months of the biennium. Since data are incomplete, it is not possible to provide full and complete information. On the basis of information available, the following statistics may be derived. The average duration for a consultant's contract is about 2.2 months. The average fee amounts to $4,400 per consultant. It is recalled that, at the request of the General Assembly, a report on the use of consultants during the biennium is submitted at the session following the end of the biennium. This report presents full and complete information on consultants, including expenditure incurred, work-months of consultants engaged, nationality or origin of consultants, level of education and evaluation of performance. Such a report will be prepared for the biennium 1992-1993 and submitted to the General Assembly at its forty-ninth session.

25. The net increase of $1.3 million under travel relates to section 41.I. for travel of conference services staff in Geneva to service meetings away from Geneva. In this instance, the added costs are offset by savings under temporary assistance for meetings provided for Geneva.

26. The net increase of $1.6 million under contractual services relates to added requirements for contractual engineering ($3.3 million), contractual translation, ($413,900) and other contractual services ($259,700), offset by reductions amounting to $2.8 million under external printing and binding administered by the Publications Board ($1.6 million) and under training ($544,000), other external printing services ($307,900), and data-processing services ($293,600).

27. The increases under contractual engineering are found in section 31, Department of Public Information, and section 41.D., Office of General Services. These services relate to sound engineers for servicing conferences and meetings, and for radio and television technicians for news coverage of Department of Public Information events. The increase under contractual translation reflects, as in other instances, the added requirements in respect of meetings and conferences.

28. The increase requested under equipment amounts to $1.2 million, offset by a reduction of $2.2 million under supplies. The major increases are mainly for office automation and furniture and fixtures under the following sections:

Section	(Thousands of dollars)
Administration and management	558.8
UNCTAD	366.1
Department of Public Information	236.2
Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean	126.6

29. Explanations in respect of individual sections may be found in the relevant addenda to the present report.

II. INCOME SECTIONS

Income section 1. Income from staff assessment (Decrease $29,820,900)

30. The decrease in income from staff assessment, as with section 36, is due mainly lower actual costs when compared to standard costs. As with other staff costs, exchange rates and unanticipated inflation are also relevant factors.

Income section 2. General income (Decrease $1,802,400)

31. The net decrease is attributable to lower earnings from bank interest ($4,294,400), offset by increased income relating to rental of premises ($513,000), refund of previous year's expenditure ($882,500) and miscellaneous income ($1,010,500).

32. Other decreases under this heading are attributable to the reimbursement expected for ICSC ($349,200) and the Joint Inspection Unit ($113,000), reimbursement for services provided to specialized agencies and others at Geneva ($176,100) and cancellation of the debt of UNITAR in accordance with General Assembly resolution 47/227 ($200,000).

Income section 3. Services to the public (Increase $3,927,000)

33. The increase in net revenue by $3,927,000 is due mostly to cost-saving measures undertaken during the biennium as well as to promotional activities carried out in Europe and Asia in respect of the United Nations Postal Administration ($1,448,900) and various management improvements introduced in the selection of publications, sales and marketing processes of the sale of United Nations publications ($2,617,400).
